FDI Galvanized Push-Pull Props

Product Overview

FDI Galvanized Push-Pull Props

The FDI Galvanized push-pull-props system has proved itself in practice for many years.

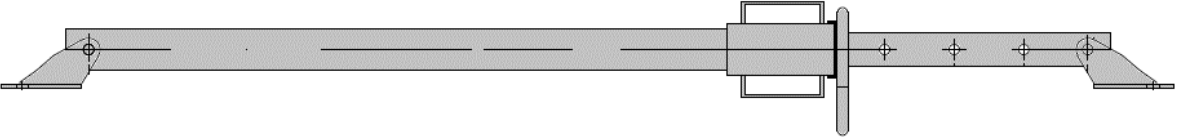

They can be used in all possible cases to support prefab elements, standard system formwork and steel during construction.

The FDI push-pull-prop system offers 4 types of props for traction and pressure forces.

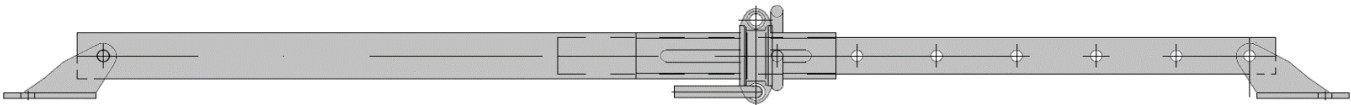

Because of suitable accessories that can be attached to the props, you get high flexibility, time efficiency, easy mounting and last but not least a high level of security and safety.

Please choose the appropriate prop for your construction project or contact our sales team for further details.
